Ũ	ication of prior art discussed:
The substitution of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments:
Applicant's counsel discussed aspects of the invention related to the rejection under 35 USC 103; particularly that there was no expressed motivation to combine the references cited , that the evidentiary record of the prior art did not teach purifying target nucleic acids prior to amplification, and, further, that where purification was done (i.e when the problem was recognized at all) it was done by methodology other than that claimed by applicant. The examiner agreed that there was no expressed motivation in the references but that expressed motivation was not required to establish obviousness under 103. The Examiner discussed that although the art provided "quick and dirty" solutions to amplification, this did not constitute teaching away from the claimed invention and that although the claimed invention represented an improvement over the art; the modification of the art known technique (purifying a target using a solid support from a sample) was recognized as offering an advantage that would render this improvement an obvious one.
(A fuller description, if necessary, and a copy of the amendments, if available, which the examiner agreed would render the claims allowable must be attached. Also, where no copy of the amendents which would render the claims allowable is available, a summary thereof must be attached.)
